Pauline Hermeneutics: Exploring the Power of the Gospel, LWF Studies 2016/3, Eve-Marie Becker and Kenneth Mtata (eds)

Paul's letters are of crucial importance for Christian theology and church life. The way in which the apostle Paul critically reflected on the meaning of the gospel message in light of Scripture, the traditions, ethics and Christian faith and hope, has had a significant and lasting impact on the Lutheran tradition.

In this publication, the fourth and final in a series of LWF publications on biblical hermeneutics, renowned international scholars from the fields of biblical studies and systematic theology reevaluate to what extent twenty-first-century Lutherans can rediscover the Pauline paradigm of the "power of the Gospel" and hereby overcome ambiguous perceptions of the so-called "Lutheran reading(s)" of Paul.

Healing Memories: Implications of the Reconciliation between Lutherans and Mennonites, LWF Studies 2016/2

Meeting in Stuttgart, Germany, in 2010, the Eleventh Assembly of the Lutheran World Federation (LWF) asked for forgiveness from members of the Anabaptist/Mennonite tradition for the wrongs going back to the beginnings of the Lutheran movement in the sixteenth century that had led to painful divisions between the two Christian families. The Mennonites accepted this apology and both communities committed themselves to move toward reconciliation.

On the threshold of the 500th anniversary of the Reformation, this publication brings together two reports: Healing Memories: Reconciling in Christ by the Lutheran–Mennonite International Study Commission first published in 2010) and Bearing Fruit—Implications of the 2010 Reconciliation between Lutherans and Mennonites/Anabaptists by the LWF Task force on Mennonite Action approved by the LWF Council in 2016.

Interactive Pluralism in Asia. Religious Life and Public Space

In today's multi-ethnic and multi-cultural Asian contexts, religious plurality is one of the hallmarks of many societies. This book provides new insights into the current realities of religious life in Hong Kong, India, Indonesia, Japan, Malaysia and Myanmar, highlights the influence of religious commitment on the public space, and examines how Christian theology engages with contemporary realities in Asia. Christian theologians of different denominations offer fascinating theological reflections on justification, salvation, the Holy Spirit and the Trinity, and discuss interactions within and between Asian societies as well as with the world at large..

The Church in the Public Space. A Study Document of the Lutheran World Federation

Through its member churches, programs and projects, the Lutheran World Federation has been heavily involved in community-based action for peace and justice and human rights advocacy. At the same time, the LWF has engaged in theological reflection that deepens the understanding of being church in the public space today.

This study document, prepared by an international group of Lutheran theologians and received by the LWF Council in 2016, invites the Lutheran communion, theological seminaries, ecumenical and interfaith partners meaningfully to engage in and contribute to the strengthening of the public space—locally and globally—so that it becomes a just place for all. It is an important reference document for the Reformation anniversary activities and beyond.

“In the beginning was the Word.” The Bible in the Life of the Lutheran Communion. A Study Document on Lutheran Hermeneutics

In light of the 500th anniversary of the Reformation in 2017, the Lutheran communion revisited its own theological roots and theological identity. A communion-wide, international hermeneutics process brought together Lutheran and ecumenical theologians and the lessons gleaned from this comprehensive process are synthesized in this statement for use by the LWF communion.

At its meeting in Wittenberg in June 2016, the LWF Council received the hermeneutics statement recommending it to the member churches for study and action in order to ensure that the churches engage critically with their interpretive responsibilities at different levels. Moreover, the member churches and the Communion Office are encouraged to draw on the key elements of the document to inform the deliberations around the commemoration of the 500th anniversary of the Reformation and as they celebrate and commemorate the Reformation anniversary to recommit themselves to the biblical resources for their faith and life.

NEW EDITION From Conflict to Communion. Lutheran–Catholic Commemoration of the Reformation in 2017, Report of the Lutheran–Roman Catholic Commission on Unity (including Common Prayer)

In 2017, Catholics and Lutherans will jointly look back on events of the Reformation 500 years ago. At the same time, they will also reflect on 50 years of official ecumenical dialogue on the worldwide level. During this time, the communion they share anew has continued to grow. This encourages Lutherans and Catholics to celebrate together the common witness to the Gospel of Jesus Christ, who is the center of their common faith. Yet, amidst this celebration, they will also have reason to experience the suffering caused by the division of the Church, and to look self-critically at themselves, not only throughout history, but also through today's realities.

“From Conflict to Communion” develops a basis for an ecumenical commemoration that stands in contrast to earlier centenaries. The Lutheran–Roman Catholic Commission on Unity invites all Christians to study its report both open-mindedly and critically, and to walk along the path towards the full, visible unity of the Church

Religious Identity and Renewal in the Twenty-first Century: Jewish, Christian and Muslim Explorations

Religions carry strong visions of renewal and thereby have the potential to trigger dynamics of change in all spheres of human life. Religions have contributed to societal transformation and processes of renewal spark intensive theological debates. The renewal of religious identity is informed by how religious communities interpret their traditions and past, present, and future challenges to themselves, society and the world at large. How do religious communities understand their own resources and criteria for renewal in the twenty-first century? In this publication, Jewish, Christian and Muslim scholars analyze and reflect on the meaning and dynamics of religious renewal and explore the meaning of religious renewal across religious traditions.

To All the Nations. Lutheran Hermeneutics and the Gospel of Matthew

In his pastoral and theological reflections, Martin Luther always sought faithfully to discern the Word of God from the Scriptures. Luther drew on the Gospel of Matthew when developing edifying sermons as well as teasing out valuable ethical insights for the Christian engagement in society. While his immediate audience was in Wittenberg, the Gospel of Matthew has continued to be a resource for the church's mission. In this collection of essays, internationally renowned theologians reflect on the ongoing reception of the Gospel of Matthew from the Reformation until today, and how, in light of the Lutheran interpretive traditions, it remains a valuable resource for the church as it seeks to respond to contemporary concerns in its mission to the whole world.

Embarking on the Journey of Interreligious Dialogue

The Lutheran World Federation is firmly committed to promoting interreligious dialogue. In a world, marked by division and strife also among religious communities, the bringing together of people of different faiths to deepen the mutual understanding of and joint commitment to issues of shared concern constitutes a strong public witness. Over the last decades, the LWF has published a number of substantial theological studies in the area of interreligious relations. During the summer of 2015, Jennifer Lewis, a student of theology at Princeton Theological Seminary, studied a number of these publications in order to gather insights that will be inspiring and thought-provoking for a wider audience. This booklet provides a taste of the wealth of expertise the LWF has gathered in this field.

Liberated by God's Grace. 2017—500 Years of Reformation

In these four booklets, theologians from all parts of the world reflect on the main theme and three sub-themes (Liberated by God's Grace: Salvation—Not for Sale; Human Beings—Not for Sale; Creation—Not for Sale) of the Lutheran World Federation's commemoration of the 500th Anniversary of the Reformation. This collection of essays provides profound insights into the crucial issues and challenges daily faced by the members of the worldwide Lutheran communion in very diverse contexts. The theological concept of justification by God's grace and its consequences for different dimensions of life serve as the main guiding principles for the essays, each one of which is accompanied by three questions that invite to further contextual reflection on the subject.

Religious Plurality and the Public Space. Joint Christian–Muslim Theological Reflections. LWF Studies 1/2015

Religious plurality is a vital element of many societies across the globe. Different visions of life and religious commitment not only shape people's private lives but have an intrinsic public dimension. Societies need to find ways to acknowledge and deal with this diversity in the public space. Religious communities and theologians are challenged to interpret their own traditions in ways that enable the constructive engagement with religious plurality. In this volume, Christian and Muslim scholars from different parts of the world together explore the meaning of public space. In relation to their contexts, they examine how public space can be understood as a shared space and discuss the meaning of secularity in plural societies.

The Self-Understanding of the Lutheran Communion—A Study Document

As the Lutheran communion journeys towards the Reformation Anniversary in 2017, the LWF wants to attest to what it means to be an ecclesial communion from a Lutheran perspective. One of the phrases that has become a hallmark of Lutheran ecclesiology is "unity in reconciled diversity." At all times and in every place, churches discern how faithfully to live out the message of the gospel in their contexts. As part of this process, they are called to review and examine cultural and socio-ethical paradigms in light of the gospel of Jesus Christ. Careful responses to the particular contexts are an important aspect of credibly communicating the message of the gospel. At the same time, the mutual accountability of churches in different contexts is part of their commitment to the catholicity of the church of Jesus Christ.

As follow-up to the LWF Council Meeting in June 2015, the LWF General Secretary invites member churches to a study process on the significance of the Lutheran communion for the LWF member churches. The study document "The Self-Understanding of the Lutheran Communion" was elaborated by a working group, in collaboration with the LWF regions and approved by the LWF Council in 2015.

Understanding the Gift of Communion. The Quest for a Shared Self-Understanding of the Lutheran Communion. A Reader

As the Lutheran communion journeys towards the Reformation Anniversary in 2017, maintaining the integrity of the communion where disagreements have emerged between member churches has become a concern in light of how churches respond to certain ethical challenges. The articles in this publication review and reflect on shifting socio-ethical paradigms in light of the gospel of Jesus and explore subjects such as the theological significance of the concept of communion and its impact in relation to global dynamics; Lutheran ecclesiological insights in relation to insights during the Reformation; the concept of communion in the LWF's bilateral dialogues; the importance of linking autonomy and accountability in relations between churches; the meaning of communion in a multireligious context; and the power dynamics between churches.

“Women on the Move: From Wittenberg to Windhoek” Toolkit

The project “Women on the Move: From Wittenberg to Windhoek” (WMWW) celebrates the leadership and participation of women in the ongoing Reformation 1517—2017. The WMWW toolkit gives an introduction to the project. It equips women in the global Lutheran communion to take part by sharing texts, images and videos with other women. The toolkit has two major sections: •Her-stories – with guiding questions and several elements to be developed by individual readers; •Women doing theology - including theological reflection and publications and the women theologians’ network. The toolkit is made up of a number of elements available for individual download. A cover folder with an inspiring image of Catharina crossing over the threshold provides a convenient holder for stories and ideas collected on the journey toward 2017. The folder is available in standard printing and press (delivery to service provider) formats. Use the toolkit to revisit and reflect on the past together with other women, and to empower the present. Experience how it makes visible women’s contributions to the spreading of ongoing reformation ideas and ways of living.

Singing the Songs of the Lord in Foreign Lands. Psalms in Contemporary Lutheran Interpretation. Documentation 59/2014, Kenneth Mtata et al (eds)

Despite their richness, the Psalms also raise some interpretive challenges. How do we read such difficult passages as the one which advocates the violent destruction of one’s enemies? This collection of essays by renowned international scholars addresses such issues as historical and contemporary Lutheran and ecumenical interpretations of Psalms and provides valuable interpretive insights for theologians, biblical scholars, pastors, counselors and students.

Communion: On Being the Church. Report of the Lutheran—Reformed Commission between the Lutheran World Federation (LWF) and the World Communion of Reformed Churches (WCRC), 2006—2012

On the basis of the results of earlier Lutheran-Reformed dialogues and the theological foundations (relating to ecclesiology and ministry) articulated in this report, Lutheran and Reformed churches have now a greater potential to reach full communion. The report recommends several practical steps toward more fully living out the reality of this communion. It also includes several contextual observations on challenges faced and creative responses to these in different parts of the world reaching out for unity between Reformed and Lutherans. The document marks the end of a six-year dialogue process.

Religion: Help or Hindrance to Development? Documentation 58/2013, Kenneth Mtata (ed.)

The decline of religion in the Western world used to be regarded as a direct consequence of development, and it was assumed that this would also occur in the global South once the same levels of economic development had been reached. The current flourishing of religion in the global South and the increased awareness of its significance in the global North prove that religion continues to play a crucial role. In those contexts where religion frames reality, development cannot ignore religion. This collection of essays by scholars and development practitioners from Africa, Asia, Europe and Latin and North America explores the fascinating interface between religion and development as well as the negative and positive potential of religion in development.

LWF Gender Justice Policy

The LWF Gender Justice Policy, approved by the LWF Council in 2013, is a tool to enhance the communion's journey towards inclusiveness. Developed in a participatory process, it has grown out of experiences in member churches, is enriched by the biblical and theological bases of our Lutheran identity, and provides guidance and methodologies for contextualizing action plans and strategies and integrating gender as a crosscutting priority in all of the communion's work.

“You have the Words of Eternal Life.” Transformative Readings of the Gospel of John from a Lutheran Perspective, Documentation 57/2012, Kenneth Mtata (ed.)

The Bible remains the main resource for faith communities. How can it be read fruitfully in ways that strengthen the community of readers in their faith, witness and service to the world? In what ways can convergence be found in diverse, sometimes conflicting, interpretive contexts? This collection of essays seeks to attend to these and similar questions. The focus on the three interpretive poles highlights these as central to biblical interpretation. The Gospel of John is used as a base text, read in light of different contexts and through the lens of the ecumenical, Lutheran and Reformed traditions. This book is the first in a series that will further explore the relationship between these hermeneutical poles.

The Biblical Foundations of the Doctrine of Justification. An Ecumenical Follow up to the Joint Declaration on the Doctrine of Justification, Presented by a task force of biblical scholars and systematic theologians from the Lutheran World Federation, the Pontifical Council for Promoting Christian Unity, the World Communion of Reformed churches, and the World Methodist Council

In October 1999, representatives of the Catholic Church and the Lutheran World Federation signed the historic Joint Declaration on the Doctrine of Justification, ending centuries' of disagreement and conflict over the crucial subject of justification, the original point of disagreement between Catholicism and Lutheranism. They committed themselves to continue their dialogue on the central tenets of faith and brought in Methodist and Reformed scholars to contribute their insights on the scriptural bases of the doctrine of justification.

This volume is the fruit of that dialogue and the fulfillment of that promise, an exploration by biblical scholars and systematic theologians from four Christian traditions, striving to achieve mutual understanding in a spirit of listening and sharing.

“Dignity of Work. Theological and Interdisciplinary Perspectives,” Documentation 56/2011, Kenneth Mtata (ed.)

While work is central to human flourishing, the way in which it is understood and practiced has the potential both to affirm and to assault human dignity. Drawing on the social sciences, this book contributes to the current discussion on the ethics of work from the perspective of the Lutheran theological heritage as it is expressed in the different contexts of the communion. Furthermore, it explores the various ways in which the Scriptures can be read in light of Luther's understanding of vocation, and explores the implications of affirming the dignity of work in relation to questions of fair remuneration, gender and culture.

Lutheran University Press/The Lutheran World Federation, ISBN: 978–3–905676–99–0 (Europe) ISBN: 978–1932688–50–4 (USA), CHF 15.–, USD 15.–, € 12.–, plus postage and packing. Also available in German.

“It will not be so among you!” A Faith Reflection on Gender and Power

This resource of biblical and theological reflections highlights global experiences within the framework of the former Gender and Power program coordinated by the Women in Church and Society (WICAS) desk. It is intended as a discussion starter and a catalyst for concrete action and the development of meaningful gender justice processes in the Lutheran communion.

Healing Memories: Reconciling in Christ. Report of the Lutheran–Mennonite International Study Commission, The Lutheran World Federation and the Mennonite World Conference

This commission's work provides an excellent example of the ways in which international dialogues can build upon and continue efforts begun in local and regional settings. The report demonstrates how the search for reconciliation can be served by rigorous historical and theological study. Having begun its work by taking up the desire to address divisive legacies from the past, the commission makes concrete recommendations toward a future of greater unity.

“Like Living Stones.” Lutheran Reflections on the One Holy, Catholic, and Apostolic Church, LWF Studies 02/2010, Hans-Peter Grosshans and Martin Sinaga (eds)

In this book, Lutherans share insights into how faith in the one holy, catholic, and apostolic church not only provides theological commonality among Lutherans, but also helps realize the social aspect of the Christian faith.

Lutheran University Press/The Lutheran World Federation, ISBN: 978–3–905676–99–0 (Europe) ISBN: 978–1932688–50–4 (USA), CHF 15.--, USD 15.--, € 12.--, plus postage and packing.

Freedom and Responsibility. Christian and Muslim Explorations, LWF Studies 01/2010, Simone Sinn and Martin Sinaga (eds)

How can Christian and Muslim ethical and theological reflection contribute to the wider discourse on human beings and actions, freedom and responsibility? The contributions in this book honestly name complex and often conflictual realities and point to seeds of hope in our societies and religious communities, thus deepening the understanding of human agency and freedom from a faith perspective.

Not Just Numbers. Examining the Legitimacy of Foreign Debts. LWF Documentation 53/2008, Martin Junge and Peter N. Prove (eds)

Recent discussions have focused increasingly on the concept of the legitimacy or illegitimacy of external debt. This book gives an overview of the involvement of churches and NGOs and their attempts to bring the concept of illegitimacy into the political debate of debt relief and responsible lending. Theological and ethical perspectives are presented, as well as a conceptual discussion regarding the concept of debt illegitimacy. Regional perspectives from authors around the globe present a diversified picture regarding the understanding of illegitimate debt and the same time constitute a valuable resource for further discussion on the subject.

The Apostolicity of the Church, Study Document of the Lutheran-Roman Catholic Commission on Unity, The Lutheran World Federation and the Pontifical Council for Promoting Christian Unity

This study document is a contribution toward deepening communion between the Roman Catholic and Lutheran churches. It points to further steps toward their visible unity by treating 1) the New Testament witness as foundational for the apostolicity of the church, 2) the apostolic gospel and the elements of the church's apostolicity, 3) the apostolicity of the ordained ministry, and 4) was in which faith and teaching are maintained in the truth of the apostolic gospel.

Witnessing to God's Faithfulness. Issues of Biblical Authority, LWF Studies 02/2006, Reinhard Boettcher (ed.)

In what sense is the Bible the Word of God? In what sense is it authoritative for Lutheran Christians and the life of the church? How does this affect our interpretation? In interaction with one another, theologians from different parts of the world explore these and other key questions, and identify some common ground amid their differences.

The Diaconal Ministry in the Mission of the Church, LWF Studies 01/2006, Reinhard Boettcher (ed.)

The main presentations and final statement of a global consultation on the diaconal ministry are brought together in this publication. Churches are challenged to reexamine how they understand and order the diaconal ministry as an expression of diakonia as a core component of the church's mission in society.

Lutheran Ethics at the Intersections of God's One World, LWF Studies 02/2005, Karen L. Bloomquist (ed.)

The intent of this book is to shed light on how different cultural perspectives intersect and affect how ethical concerns are viewed and evaluated, even within the "grammar" of one confessional tradition. Articles here are likely to expand contextually limited views on topics such as sexuality, human rights, democratization, technology and property. Furthermore, it provides insights into how discussions on ethical questions might take place in a global communion of churches.

The Doctrine of Justification: Its Reception and Meaning Today, LWF Studies 02/2003, Karen L Bloomquist and Wolfgang Greive (eds)

Based on the historic 1999 Joint Declaration on the Doctrine of Justification between Lutherans and Roman Catholics, these articles arose from a 2002 ecumenical symposium that reflected on what justification actually means to people today in churches around the world, the impact this agreement was having on different churches, and the implications for further ecumenical pursuits. This volume explores the significance of justification by God's grace for faith, values, and unity, both for individuals and as churches.
